

Download Examining Perceptions Of Rapid Population Growth In North And South Gondar Zones, Northwest Ethiopia

Perceptions of the population problem, North and South Gondar zones, northwest Ethiopia, 2007 Table 2. Measures to be taken as suggested by the study subjects to control the rapid population growth, North and South Gondar zones, Northwest Ethiopia, 2007 Examining Perceptions of Rapid Population Growth in North and South Gondar Zones, Northwest Ethiopia Article (PDF Available) in Journal of Health Population and Nutrition 27(6):784-93 · December ...Ethiopia is one of the most populous countries in Africa and ranks second only to Nigeria. Rapid population growth has hampered the country's development, making the eradication of extreme poverty and hunger difficult. This study which had two components--quantitative and qualitative--was aimed at exploring the perceptions of women and other social groups on the prevailing population pressures. The quantitative study involved 3,512 women aged 15-49 years. The qualitative study consisted of ...Ethiopia is one of the most populous countries in Africa and ranks second only to Nigeria. Rapid population growth has hampered the country's development, making the eradication of extreme poverty and hunger difficult. This study which had two components-quantitative and qualitative-was aimed at exploring the perceptions of women and other ..., Examining Perceptions Of Rapid Population Growth In North And South Gondar Zones, Northwest Ethiopia.

Other Files :